lectures

The slides alone are not sufficient for self-studies, participation in class is necessary.
Slides will be provided before class, usually on Tuesday evening.
Please, read through the slides in advance to prepare for class.

The value of writing

In this module you will have the chance to practice and improve your written and oral communication skills. Do it like Jeff Bezos:

«Ich hatte sehr viele Misserfolge» ○ ○ ○

Amazon-Gründer Jeff Bezos ist der drittreichste Mensch der Welt. Das Internetunternehmen ihm die Möglichkeit, an der Zukunft mitzuarbeiten.

Preparation tasks (relevant for learning points)

- Individual work or work in pairs
- The preparation tasks will help you to set the foundation for the topics and discussions in class.
- Results will be uploaded on a weekly basis.
- Concrete tasks will be provided on Moodle, named “Preparation Task”.

Deadlines for uploads:

Thursday evening before class (relevant for learning points)

Learning points

Step 1 Preparing class topics

- Collect one point per upload of a preparation task on Moodle (eight learning points in total).
- You can work alone or in pairs.
- Uploads must contain meaningful content.
- Deadline is Thursday evening before class.
- Plagiarism (copying from other students) is not allowed!

Step 2 Pre-class discussion

- To make the collected points “valid”, a successful participation in a pre-class discussion is required. “Successful” means that at least two questions must be answered sufficiently.
- Relevant for the pre-class discussions are the topics of the two previous sessions.
- In case of a failure, one repetition is possible.

Regulations for exam repetitions

- Assignment
 - The assignment points remain valid if the examination must be repeated.
 - The assignment can be repeated in the semester in which the exam is repeated.
- Learning points
 - The learning points are valid for one examination attempt.
 - They can be repeated in the semester in which the exam is repeated.
